Definitions

Appraiser: An appraiser is a person licensed by the state after completing licensing coursework and internship hours

AMC: Appraisal Management Company is an entity through which mortgage lenders order residential real estate valuation services

Comparables: Also known as “comps”, is a real estate appraisal term referring to properties with characteristics that are similar to a subject property whose value is being sought.

Multiple listing services: database that can only be accessed by real estate professionals to find comparable properties.

Reconsideration of value: also known as a ROV, is the process in which you file an appraisal value dispute which can lead to getting a 2nd opinion on your home. The Reconsideration of Value comes into play when an appraiser's opinion of value is not agreed upon by the parties involved in the transaction

Comparative market analysis: a tool that real estate agents use to estimate the value of a specific property by evaluating similar ones that have recently sold in the area. This is different from an appraisal that can only be completed by an appraiser

Overview

- What is an appraisal
- The appraisal process
- Recognizing appraisal bias
- How to best prepare for an appraisal
- How to take action against a low valuation

What is an Appraisal?

An appraisal determines the value of a home and is performed by a licensed appraiser.

Appraisals are critical to ensure homebuyers:

1. Pay a fair, reasonable price for their home
2. Receive the full value their home is worth
3. Can access all the equity in their home

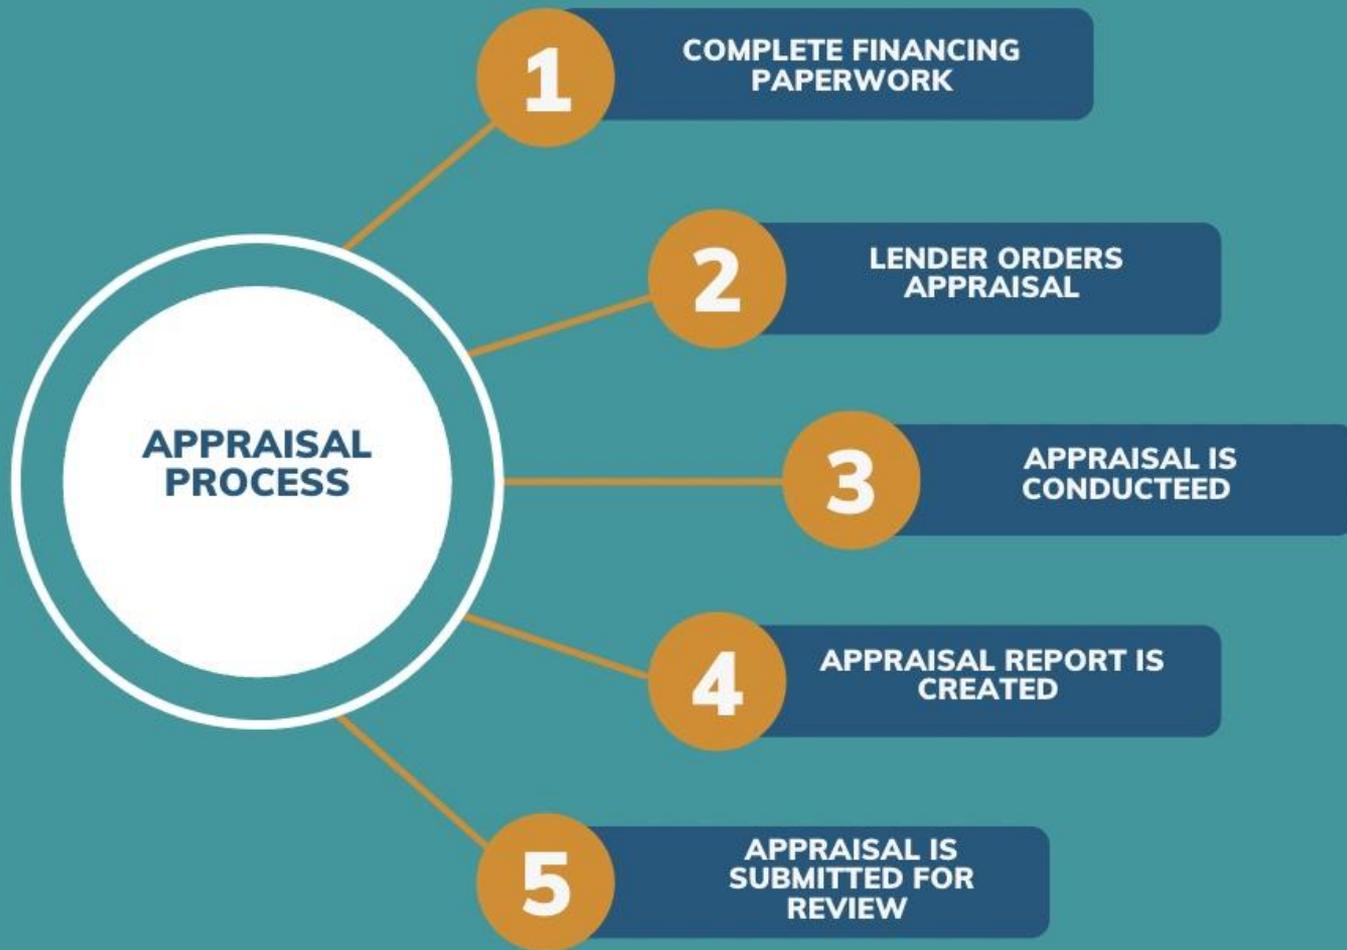

Appraisal Process

Next, we will walk through the appraisal process if your client is buying, selling, or refinancing

1. Loan Application

The first step is completing a loan application. Homebuyers, homeowners, or those seeking to build a home typically need financing and will apply for a mortgage loan (i.e., purchase, refinance, construction, home equity) with a lending institution.

The purpose of the appraisal is to ensure homebuyers

- Pay a fair, reasonable price for their home
- Receive the full value their home is worth
- Can access all the equity in their home

2. Lender orders appraisal

The lender orders the appraisal after your clients put in an offer on the home, has it accepted, and the purchase agreement is signed.

The appraisal request is then submitted to an appraiser or appraisal management company (AMC) who will conduct the appraisal.

Your client will be notified when the appraisal is scheduled.

Cost of an Appraisal

If your client is buying or refinancing a home, they pay for the appraisal. Most single family conventional home appraisals cost $200-600 while multi family homes can cost up to $600. Appraisals for an FHA loans are more expensive than appraisals for conventional loans due in part to additional requirements and guidelines

 Tip: The best time to bring up the cost of an appraiser is when your client is ready to choose a mortgage broker

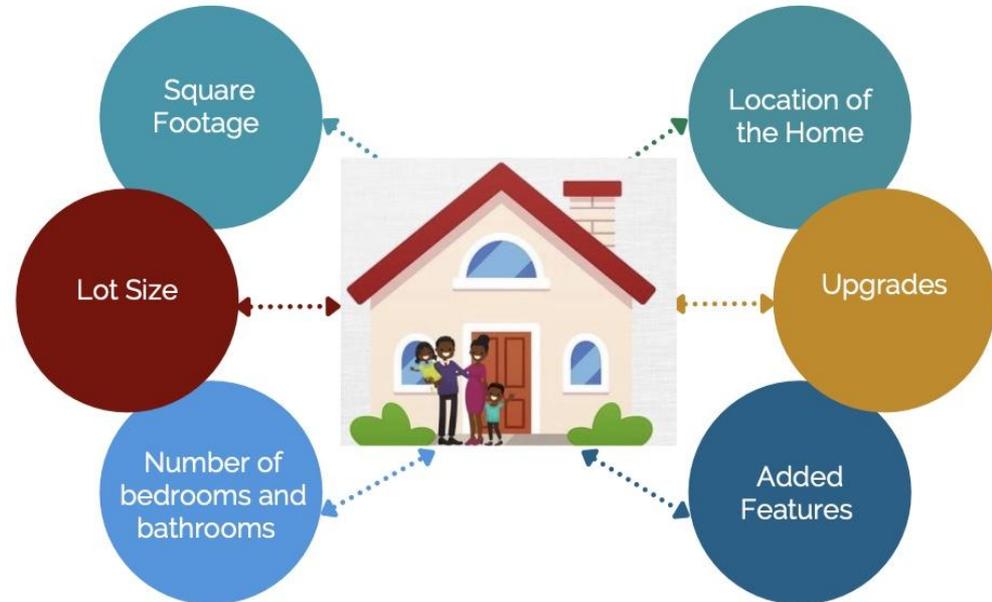

3. The Appraiser Comes to the Home

Next, the appraiser comes to the home. The on-site appointment can last anywhere from 15 minutes to several hours.

During the inspection, the appraiser will do a thorough evaluation of the home taking photos of the inside and outside of the home and make observations.

The appraiser will take note of the following:

Different Types of Appraisals

Drive-by Appraisal

An appraisal that is conducted without an appraiser entering the home. Rather, a licensed appraiser will examine the home from the outside and make their valuation based on the exterior. This costs less than a full appraisal.

This happens more often with home refinances but occurs frequently due to COVID-19

Desktop Appraisal

An appraisal that is performed without an appraiser conducting an on-site inspection. All research is done, as the name suggests, at the appraiser's desk. This costs less than full appraisal.

Appraisers will use tax records and multiple listing services to find comparables to make a valuation on the home

Both types of appraisals could be less accurate than a full appraisal which could cost thousands. If the property needs an on-site full appraisal, please have your client request one from your lender

Continue

Due to COVID-19, an appraisal can also rely solely on exterior inspection and interior photos/videos of the home that your client provides

We recommend taking down any items indicating race such as family photos, paintings, etc to mitigate appraisal bias which will be discussed shortly.

4. The Appraiser Creates the Report

The appraiser puts together a report on the home with everything they used to determine the value:

Appraisers can use 3 approaches to get the value of the home:

1. The sales comparison approach: Selecting comparable homes to the subject property and making adjustments to the value of the home. Note: This is typically the most common approach
2. Cost approach : How much it would cost to build or replace the home depending on the size and local construction costs
3. Income approach: Used for income-generating property, in which the appraiser estimates how much the property is expected to make

How are Comparables Chosen?

In the sales comparison approach, the appraiser will review comparable homes to come up with a value for the home. The report will contain these comparables (usually 3).

Comparables are chosen using the following criteria:

- Have sold recently in the neighborhood (sold in the last 3 months)
- Have the same characteristics of the home
- In the same neighborhood as the home or one nearby

Note: The appraiser will make adjustments, additions or subtractions to the value of the subject property based on these comps. This is in the report.

Example: If one comp has an extra bedroom and bathroom but is priced the same as the home, the estimated value will decrease by an appropriate amount

5. The Appraisal is Submitted for Review

Finally, the appraisal report is submitted to the lender for review. Your client will receive a copy of your appraisal.

The Equal Credit Opportunity Act requires that lenders send a copy of the report to the homebuyer or homeowner regardless of the loan decision. The seller does not receive a copy of the report but can request one.

The report will contain:

- Specific properties used as comparables
- Location of the home
- General market data

Recognizing Appraisal Bias

Many Black and Brown families across the South and West side of Chicago and across the nation have experienced appraisal bias and discrimination resulting in significant devaluation of homes and neighborhoods.

When a home is improperly undervalued, that hurts you, the homeowner, and the surrounding neighborhood

If your client has suffered discrimination, please fill out this survey so we can better understand your situation and help you seek relief:

Preparing for the Appraisal

Next, we will review how to best prepare your client for the appraisal. This is important in order to get an accurate valuation on the home.

Steps to Prepare

RESEARCH APPRAISER

CONTACT REALTOR

FIND COMPARABLES

SUBMIT APPRAISAL PACKAGE

EVIDENCE OF HOME IMPROVEMENTS

MAKE RENOVATIONS AND TIDY UP

BE PRESENT

Research the Appraiser

Questions for Lender

“What is the name of my appraiser”

“How much field experience does this appraiser have in my neighborhood?”

“What is the physical address of this appraiser's office?”

“What AMC does this appraiser work for?”

If an appraiser's office isn't local, that can be an indicator that they will not know how to assess the neighborhood/home accurately

Questions for Appraiser

“What is your full contact information? Name, office address, email and telephone”

“How long have you been appraising in my local market?”

“What is the travel distance from your office to my neighborhood of (state census neighborhood name)”

“How familiar are you with the driving forces that affect sales prices in my neighborhood for my property type? What are some of those driving forces?”

Research the Appraiser

Tools for Research

- HUD Directory
- IDFPR directory

Type in first and last name of appraiser to find their credentials, status, years active, or if appraiser has been discipling or has an infraction

Contact the Realtor

Your client's realtor can help them put together an "Appraisal Package" which is information on the home that can be shared with an appraiser prior to the appraisal to help them with their valuation.

This package contains the following for your appraiser to consider:

- Property info
- Listing info
- An offer list if you have received multiple offers on your property
- Condition and room count
- Comparable homes and/or comparative market analysis
- Neighborhood market report
- Property upgrades and recent receipts of improvements

Share Evidence of Home Improvements

Help your client create an informational packet to give to the appraiser:

- Improvements over the last 15 years
- Upgrades
- Renovations
- Designations of historical value of your home in writing

Remember to include receipts of all improvements and proof of permits

Tidy Up!

Make sure the home is show ready for the appraisal.

Here are some things to do that can raise the value of your client's home:

- Declutter
- Remove family photos to minimize bias
- Maintain landscaping/curb appeal
- Make minor repairs and upgrades

Have a Representative at the Appraisal!

Your client can request for their realtor, broker, or another representative who is knowledgeable about the home and neighborhood to be present

Helping your Client

Talk to your client to assess what can be done to make sure their home is in the best condition for their appraisal:

- Typical renovations needed for homes prior to selling:
 - Repairs for health/safety issues
 - Accessibility needs
 - Air conditioning
 - Upgrades to add functionality and value needed

“What to do if your client’s appraisal value is lower than expected?”

Contest a Low Valuation

- Appeal the report
- Request a Reconsideration of Value
- Work with your realtor
- Find alternative comparables

Appeal the Report

If your client receives a low valuation, there could be inaccuracies in the report and they will want to appeal. This can lead to a Reconsideration of Value or (ROV) from their lender.

What to say to the Lender:

- Client needs to explain that they are unsatisfied with the value of the home and would like to appeal the appraisal
- Make sure to list out the specific issues or inaccuracies and provide evidence

Review Report for Inaccuracies and Bias

- Incorrect square footage
- Incorrect # of bedrooms and baths
- Omitting certain features, improvements, or renovations
- Comparables dissimilar to the subject property
- Language in the report

Using comparables that are dissimilar to the home in terms of quality, distance, etc. is an indicator of appraisal bias

Examples of Biased Language

- “Black race population above state average
- “Storefronts supplying Jewish households
- “Predominantly Hispanic”
- “More Asian Influence of late”
- “Homogeneous neighborhoods with good schools”

Contact the Realtor

Your client's realtor can help them review the appraisal report for inaccuracies. They can also request that the lender request a "Reconsideration of Value" from the appraiser

In the meantime, you and the realtor can help your client make the case by:

- Finding comparable sales and listings
- Documenting home improvements and renovations
- Providing a neighborhood market analysis

Find Alternative Comparables

To support their claim, your client will need to suggest alternative comparables

First, check the comparables used in the report. Make sure the new comparables can compete with those listed in the report. Your client will need to explain why each comparable used is better.

When choosing the best comparables:

- Similar size and style of the home
- Same age of the home
- Location; preferably within one mile
- Preferably sold within the last 3-6 months

Collect Evidence

Provide any additional documentation to the lender to make the case:

- Receipts of home improvements
- Alternative comparable homes
- Information on the neighborhood

Explain exactly which parts of the appraisal are being disputed.

Next Steps

Once the homebuyer has submitted the ROV to their lender, the lender will review the ROV and check if it meets their guidelines, and forward it to the appraiser.

Typically the appraiser will always respond, outlining the alternative comps and why they are valid or not.

The appraiser has 2 options:

1. Republish the report and send it back to the lender
2. Conduct a 2nd appraisal

A 2nd appraisal occurs if there is new information to be considered that was not available during the first appraisal

The 2nd Appraisal

A 2nd appraisal will usually cost around the same as the 1st appraisal. The cost of the second appraisal will be assumed by the lender if they find fault in the first

Next Steps

If the appraiser won't adjust the value and the lender can't help, it's best to help set your client up with a new mortgage lender and re-applying for a loan.

Restarting the loan may delay the closing, but without a good appraisal, they're less likely to close at all

“My client needs to file a complaint. Who do I go to?”
